GRP panel type water tanks:

With over 50 years of experience, Solico Tanks specializes in designing and producing high-performance GRP (Glass Reinforced Plastic) water tanks, known for their exceptional durability and adaptability across diverse applications. Operating from our advanced manufacturing facility in Dubai, we create custom tank systems built for longevity and tailored to the specific needs of each project.

Our GRP panel tanks offer a superior alternative to traditional steel, concrete, or plastic options, delivering corrosion-resistant, low-maintenance solutions that ensure a pure and safe water supply. Utilizing advanced hot-press molding technology, we eliminate chemical odors and prevent the growth of bacteria and algae. Designed to last up to 40 years, these tanks are resilient against extreme weather and seismic conditions, and their modular construction allows for straightforward transport, installation, and integration into various environments while maintaining stable water temperatures.

Guided by a strong focus on sustainability, we incorporate renewable energy into our production processes and adhere to international standards like ISO 9001 and NSF 61. Our emphasis on innovative and eco-friendly practices makes our water storage solutions ideal
